

Applying to SIU McNair Scholars Program

The Ronald E. McNair Post-baccalaureate Achievement Program is a comprehensive program structured to prepare undergraduates for successful careers as graduate students, professors, and professional researchers. The program is an educational opportunity program funded under the Higher Education Act of 1965 collectively known as TRIO Programs. The McNair Scholars Program is funded by the U.S. Department of Education and provides enriching educational experiences for low-income, first-generation college students and members of underserved groups in higher education. At Southern Illinois University Carbondale, the McNair Scholars Program accommodates twenty-eight (29) students each year. McNair Scholars are motivated students who have both the desire and the potential to earn a doctorate degree. By participating in the program, scholars increase and refine their academic skills as they learn tools that will help them be successful in graduate schools.

BENEFITS:

McNair Scholars Program provides:

- Individualized academic and personal support.
- $2800 paid to student to conduct summer research.
- $200 available to mentor for research supplies.
- Participation in the McNair Summer Research Symposium.
- GRE Review and preparation.
- Mentoring from faculty, graduate students and peers.
- Travel awards to participate in research conferences and visit graduate schools.
- Workshops on the graduate school funding and application process.
- Assistance in identifying and applying to graduate schools.

EXPECTATIONS:

McNair Scholars are required to:

- Attend scheduled events and workshops and maintain regular contact with McNair staff and faculty mentor.
- Conduct research full-time and participate in all required activities during the summer and academic year.
- Present a poster at the SIU Undergraduate Research Forum or other similar conference.
- Complete bachelor's degree and apply to at least three graduate degree programs before graduating.
- Provide the McNair staff alumni updates on your academic and professional accomplishments.

Applications are accepted every Fall and Spring semester. Check our website for deadlines. Please submit the following application materials to the McNair Scholars Office (347 Woody Hall 3rd level) by the end of business (4:30pm):

McNair Program Application Checklist

- Completed Application
